

Stakeholder Comments Template

Maximum Import Capability Stabilization and Multi-year Allocation

This template has been created for submission of stakeholder comments on the Maximum import capability stabilization and multi-year allocation draft final proposal that was published on July 14, 2020. The paper, stakeholder meeting presentation, and other information related to this initiative may be found on the initiative webpage at: <http://www.caiso.com/StakeholderProcesses/Maximum-import-capability-stabilization-multi-year-allocation>.

Upon completion of this template, please submit it to regionaltransmission@caiso.com. Submissions are requested by close of business on August 4, 2020.

Submitted by	Organization	Date Submitted
Adeline Lassource	Pacific Gas & Electric Company	August 5, 2020

Please provide your organization's overall position on the Maximum Import Capability and Multi-year Allocation draft final proposal:

- Support
- Support w/ caveats
- Oppose
- Oppose w/ caveats
- No position

Please provide your organization's comments on the following issues and questions.

1. Maximum Import Capability Stabilization

Please provide your organization's feedback on the maximum import capability stabilization topic as described in section 6.1. (Please indicate Support, Support with caveats, Oppose, or Oppose with caveats)

Please provide additional details to explain your organization's position and include supporting examples if applicable:

No more comments. PG&E welcomes that the CAISO is willing to explore other alternatives to calculate MIC through this ongoing process for RA year 2022 implementation and beyond along with the multi-year MIC allocation.

2. Available Import Capability Multi-year Allocation Process

Please provide your organization's feedback on the available import capability multi-year allocation process topic as described in section 6.2. (Please indicate Support, Support with caveats, Oppose, or Oppose with caveats)

Please provide additional details to explain your organization's position and include supporting examples if applicable:

PG&E welcomes the clarifications the CAISO provided at the stakeholder's meeting that no changes or any restrictions apply to the existing Pre-RA Import Commitments for the remaining contract period (i.e., contracts signed before 2006 as described in the CAISO Tariff).

However, the extension of an old contract or any new contract will have to meet the new Tariff requirements to lock MIC and the requirements for new contracts will be coordinated with the Resource Adequacy Enhancements (RAE) initiative. PG&E will provide more comments on the RA import requirements as currently proposed in the RAE - Fifth Revised Straw Proposal.

Additional comments

Please offer any other feedback your organization would like to provide on the Maximum import capability stabilization and multi-year allocation draft final proposal.

No comments.