

In response to Discussion question 4, Peak submits the following comment. In order for system operators to have a full awareness of how gas availability may impact generation and electric reliability, there may be benefit in CAISO exploring mechanisms to increase visibility and awareness of gas transmission priority information for those units considered necessary to maintain electric system reliability.

Michelle Mizumori
Director of Strategy and Organizational Performance
Peak Reliability
7600 NE 41st St, Suite 150
Vancouver, WA 98662-7934
Office: 360.213.2320
Mobile: 360.448.9914
www.peakrc.com